Trilithic Inc. Acquires Online Security Service

New company welcomed as Trilithic Network Services

Strategic acquisition of managed network security provider expected to accelerate innovation; provision of security solutions by telecommunications leader

INDIANAPOLIS (July 22, 2008) – Trilithic Inc. announced today that it has acquired Online Security Service, an expert provider of managed Internet security solutions based in Cooper City, Florida.

“With the market for managed security services at over $1 billion annually – and demand on the rise – there couldn’t be a better time for this acquisition,” said Terry Bush, president and co-founder of Trilithic, Inc. “It will allow Trilithic to play a larger and more integral role in the innovation and delivery of high quality, cost effective security solutions to markets around the world. We’re very pleased to welcome our new team aboard as Trilithic Network Services.”

Trilithic Network Services will retain the management team of Kevin and Gary Windle, the brothers that co-founded the company in 1989. Kevin Windle will act as Director of Business Development. Gary Windle has been named Director of Operations. The professional support and technical staff that has helped drive the astonishing growth of the company will also remain, joining over 150 business associates in Trilithic companies around the world.

Experts in network security, Trilithic Network Services offers a suite of turnkey managed solutions: Firewall, VPN; Continuous Data Protection and Disaster Recovery; Email threat management including Anti-Virus, Anti-Spam, Anti-Spyware; Image and Content Control; Information Security Solutions; Intrusion Detection and Prevention; and Threat Management.
